A Phoenician-Punic Grammar

Charles R. Krahmalkov

A classical descriptive grammar of the Phoenician-Punic language

Carefully selected examples from texts and dialects of the whole Phoenician-Punic period bring to life the grammatical description of this language: its phonology, orthography, morphology, syntax, usage, and its history and dialects. The description of the verbal system—especially that of the literary language, which holds that tense and aspect reference of a given form of the verb is largely a function of syntax, not morphology—is useful to students and scholars of Semitic languages.

Features:

- Paperback of the original Brill edition
- Fully vocalized Punic and Neo-Punic inscriptions of Roman Tripolitania in Latin orthography
- Literary fragments of Punic drama as found in Plautus's comedy Poenulus

Charles R. Krahmalkov is Professor Emeritus of Ancient Near Eastern Languages and Literature at the University of Michigan.
