(c) BIBLICAL SCHOLARS IN FRANCOPHONE COUNTRIES

We are very glad to announce that a decision was taken at the ICI Executive meeting in San Diego in November 2014 that ICI will provide more support to francophone biblical scholars in terms of the following:

- Encouraging mentoring relationships (including preparation of manuscripts for publication) between “experts” and younger scholars in francophone countries. This will be facilitated through the existing mentoring channel which is available on the ICI web page (see <https://www.sbl-site.org/educational/ICITeaching.aspx>).
- Providing links to useful French biblical scholarly resources through the monthly ICI newsletter. (This will become a regular entry in our newsletter soon. One useful link which can be made available already is the well-known scholar, Thomas Römer’s classes at the College de France (see <http://www.college-de-france.fr/site/thomas-romer/#course>).
- Including French publications in the ICI book depository. We are in negotiation with some French publishers to get them on board for this initiative. (The same will happen for Spanish scholarship.)

(d) PUBLICATION IN ANCIENT NEAR EAST MONOGRAPHS (ANEM) / MONOGRAFIAS SOBRE EL ANTIGUO CERCANO ORIENTE (MACO)

Historical Linguistics and Biblical Hebrew: Steps Toward an Integrated Approach

Authored by Robert Rezetko and Ian Young

This book seeks to break fresh ground in research on the history of ancient Hebrew. Building on theoretical and methodological concepts in general historical linguistics and in diachronic linguistic research on various Ancient Near Eastern and Indo-European languages, the authors reflect critically on issues such as the objective of the research, the nature of the written sources, and the ideas of variation and periodization. They draw on innovative work on premodern scribally created writings to argue for a similar application of a joint history of texts and history of language approach to ancient Hebrew. The application of cross-textual variable analysis and variationist analysis in various case studies shows that more complete descriptions and evaluations of the distribution of linguistic data advances our understanding of historical developments in ancient Hebrew.

Migration and Diaspora: Exegetical Voices of Women in Northeast Asian Countries

Edited by Hisako Kinukawa

The third meeting of the Society of Asian Biblical Studies was held at Sabah in June 2012, addressing the theme of Migration and Diaspora. This book contains five essays written by women from Northeast Asian countries for this occasion. Three are on Hebrew Scriptures and two are on the Christian Testament. All writers used a cultural analysis of their own social locations, and literary, historical, and postcolonial criticism as their methods of reading the texts, even though they may not explicitly mention which criticisms are used.

A Latin-Greek Index of the Vulgate New Testament

Bergren, Theodore A. A Latin-Greek Index of the Vulgate New Testament. Resources for Biblical Study, 26. Atlanta: Scholars Press, 1991.

This work provides a tool for easily determining the range of Greek equivalents for a given Latin word. Based on the Greek-Latin index by Alfred Schmoller, Handkonkordanz zum griechischen Neuen Testament, this Latin-Greek index lists, in alphabetical order, each Latin word or phrase in the Vulgate New Testament, followed by that word's full range of Greek equivalents. Page references to Schmoller's Handkonkordanz are provided for each Greek word listed so that its context in the Greek New Testament can be consulted. An appendix contains an index of Latin lexical equivalents characteristic of "African" and "European" Old Latin versions of the New Testament.

Aristaenetus, Erotic Letters

Bing, Peter and Regina Hoschele, translators. Aristaenetus, Erotic Letters. Writings from the Greco-Roman World, 32. Atlanta: Society of Biblical Literature, 2014.

The first complete English translation of Aristaenetus in nearly three centuries. Through allusion and adaption of earlier authors, Aristaenetus recounts tales that are the stuff of comedy, erotic poetry, and ancient novel. Here we read of lovers who use every trope of erotic literature to praise their beloveds in over-the-top speeches. Aristaenetus amazes us with tales of paramours hatching complicated schemes to achieve their desires, while wily go-betweens help smooth their way. He presents us with accounts of unfaithful spouses who barely avoid capture in the midst of hair-raising and amusing infidelities. This sixth century collection is perfect for anyone interested in classical and postclassical literature.

Features:

- English translation and Greek text on facing pages
- Introduction with history of the text
- Discussion of intertextual connections with Greco-Roman authors

Bible, Borders, Belonging(s): Engaging Readings from Oceania

Havea, Jione, David J. Neville, and Elaine M. Wainwright, eds. Bible, Borders, Belonging(s): Engaging Readings from Oceania. Semeia Studies, 75. Atlanta: Society of Biblical Literature, 2014.

In this collection of essays, scholars from Oceania open a new dialog regarding the vast, complex, and slippery nature of the Bible and the fluid meanings of borders and belongings. From belonging in a place, a group, or movement to belongings as material and cultural possessions; from borders of a text, discipline, or thought to borders of nations, communities, or bodies, the authors follow the currents of Oceania to the shores of Asia and beyond. Scholars contributing essays include Jeffrey W. Aernie, Marilyn Clark, Jione Havea, Gregory C. Jenks, Jeanette Mathews, Judith E. McKinlay, Monica Jyotsna Melanchthon, David J. Neville, John Painter, Kathleen P. Rushton, Ruth Sheridan, Nasili Vaka'uta, and Elaine M. Wainwright. Michele A. Connolly, David M. Gunn, and Mark G. Brett provide responses to the essays.

Features:

- Discussion of the impacts of natural disasters and political and ecological upheavals on biblical interpretation and theological reflection
- Fourteen essays on texts in the Hebrew Bible and New Testament
- Three responses to the essays provide a range of views on the topics

Neo-Babylonian Trial Records

Holtz, Shalom E., translator. Neo-Babylonian Trial Records. Writings from the Ancient World, 35. Atlanta: Society of Biblical Literature, 2014.

This collection of sixth-century B.C.E. Mesopotamian texts provides a close-up, often dramatic, view of ancient courtroom encounters shedding light on Neo-Babylonian legal culture and daily life. In addition to the legal texts, Holtz provides an introduction to Neo-Babylonian social history, archival records, and legal materials. This is an essential resource for scholars interested in the history of law.

Features

- Fifty new English translations
- Transliterations for use in advanced Akkadian courses
- Background essays perfect for courses dealing with ancient Near Eastern history and law
- Explanatory essays preceding each text and its translation

The Bible and Posthumanism

Koosed, Jennifer L., ed. The Bible and Posthumanism. Semeia Studies, 74. Atlanta: Society of Biblical Literature, 2014.

In this collection of essays, scholars place the philosophies and theories of animal studies and posthumanism into conversation with biblical studies. Authors cross and disrupt boundaries and categories through close readings of stories where the human body is invaded, possessed, or driven mad. Articles explore the ethics of the human use of animals and the biblical contributions to the question. Other essays use the image of lions—animals that appear not only in the wild, but also in the Bible, ancient Near Eastern texts, and philosophy—to illustrate the potential these theories present for students of the Bible. Contributors George Aichele, Denise Kimber Buell, Benjamin H. Dunning, Heidi Epstein, Rhiannon Graybill, Jennifer L. Koosed, Eric Daryl Meyer, Stephen D. Moore, Hugh Pyper, Robert Paul Seesengood, Yvonne Sherwood, Ken Stone, and Hannah M. Strømme present an open invitation for further work in the field of posthumanism.

Features:

- Coverage of texts that explore the boundaries between animal, human, and divinity
- Discussion of the term posthumanism and how it applies to biblical studies
- Essays engage Derrida, Foucault, Wolfe, Lacan, Žižek, Singer, Haraway, and others

Qumran Hebrew: An Overview of Orthography, Phonology, and Morphology

Reymond, Eric D. Qumran Hebrew: An Overview of Orthography, Phonology, and Morphology. Resources for Biblical Study, 76. Atlanta: Society of Biblical Literature, 2014.

In Qumran Hebrew, Reymond examines the orthography, phonology, and morphology of the Dead Sea Scrolls. Short sections treat specific linguistic phenomena and present a synopsis and critique of previous research. Reymond's approach emphasizes problems posed by scribal errors and argues that guttural letters had not all "weakened" but instead were “weak” in specific linguistic environments, texts, or dialects. Raymond illustrates that certain phonetic shifts (such as the shift of yodh > aleph and the opposite shift of aleph > yodh) occur in discernible linguistic contexts that suggest this was a real phonetic phenomenon.

Features:

- Summary and critique of previous research
- Discussion of the most recently published scrolls
- Examination of scribal errors, guttural letters, and phonetic shifts
