

2017 MIDWEST REGION SBL/AOS/ASOR SECTION DESCRIPTIONS

February 10–12, 2017

Saint Mary's College, Notre Dame (South Bend), Indiana

The 2017 Midwest Region SBL/AOS/ASOR meeting offers twelve Society of Biblical Literature program units spanning the broad range of biblical studies along with a program unit for the American Oriental Society and the American Schools of Oriental Research. The overall theme for the meeting is “What Difference Does Time Make?” Papers on other topics are also welcome.

All paper proposals for the Midwest Region meeting must be submitted through the online form at <http://tinyurl.com/hqypj8r>. The form system will generate an automated email confirmation message when the proposal is submitted. Please contact the Regional Coordinator at MWSBL.Regional.Coordinator@gmail.com if you submit a proposal but do not receive a confirmation message.

Proposals include the paper title and a 100-word paragraph abstract. Abstracts will be printed in the conference program and for that reason may not exceed 100 words, but one may also include an additional description up to 500 words alongside (not on place of) the 100-word abstract in order to explain more fully the paper being proposed. Papers that are accepted for the program will be scheduled in thirty-minute slots, ideally with twenty minutes for presentation and ten minutes for discussion.

Email addresses for the section chairs are included with the section descriptions below. Please contact the appropriate chair if you have questions about the section and its program, but submit all proposals through the online form. Please contact the Regional Coordinator if you are uncertain about the best section to which to submit a proposal.

One may submit proposals to multiple sections, but please inform the relevant section chairs by email if this is the case. The region's policy is that non-students may present a maximum of two papers at the meeting and graduate students may present one paper. Graduate students who have not previously presented at the Midwest Region meeting (or else the SBL Annual Meeting or International Meeting) must send by email a full manuscript of the paper being proposed to the appropriate section chair no later than December 30, 2016. Graduate students who have presented previously at the Midwest Region meeting (or the SBL Annual/International meetings) are not required to submit the full paper but must indicate in the online proposal form the year and section in which an earlier presentation occurred.

Normally graduate students who present at the Midwest Region meeting should be enrolled in doctoral programs. Other students should see the information below about the Student Religious Studies Conference (SRSC). Student papers that cannot be included in the Midwest Region program will be referred to the SRSC.

All proposals for the Midwest Region meeting are due on Saturday, December 3, 2016. All program decisions will be communicated no later than January 9, 2017.

Presenters must be national members of one of the three sponsoring societies—SBL, AOS, or ASOR—and must be registered for the regional meeting by Friday, January 20, 2017.

If you are a professor, please also encourage your students to participate in the meeting in two important ways. Please encourage doctoral students to apply for the Graduate Student Paper Competition, which offers up to two $300 awards for outstanding papers. Similarly, please encourage students who are undergraduates through pre-dissertation doctoral students to participate in the Student Religious Studies Conference (SRSC) on Friday, February 10, 2017.

Details for both student programs are available at the region's website (http://www.sbl-site.org/meetings/rm_midwest.aspx). For SRSC questions, please contact the SRSC coordinator at Midwest.SBL.SRSC@gmail.com. The SRSC proposal deadline (with full paper) is January 18, 2017. Students presenting at the SRSC do not have to be members of a national society.

* * *

AOS/ASOR: Papers on topics in archaeology or any study area within the purview of the AOS or ASOR are welcome, especially (but not exclusively) those on the meeting theme “What Difference Does Time Make?” Please contact JoAnn Scurlock (rbeal@uchicago.edu) with questions.

APOCALYPTIC LITERATURE: This section involves presentations on Jewish and Christian apocalypses and related literature from the “dawn of apocalyptic” through the early Christian church. We also invite papers that deal with later appropriations of ancient texts. The theme for the 2017 meeting (“What Difference Does Time Make?”) can be particularly important for our section given the key function of reflections on “Time,” its nature, its role in our texts (from “timetables” of the End, to the “End of Time,” to the “shortening of the times”...). Please remember also that there is no real chronological terminus ante quem for our section, as long as apocalyptic texts are reworked, reinterpreted, re-lived (in this sense, the time [of redaction] makes no difference). While all proposals will receive due consideration, those explicitly dealing with the presence of “Time” in the texts will receive a special one. For questions, please contact Edmondo Lupieri (elupier@luc.edu), with “MWSBL” as subject.

APOCRYPHA AND COGNATE LITERATURE: The section seeks papers dealing with Apocrypha, Septuagint, Dead Sea Scrolls, and cognate literature of the Greco-Roman world. Papers related to this year's theme (“What Difference Does Time Make?”) are welcomed. Please contact Russell Sisson (rsisson@unionky.edu) for more information.

BIBLE MEANING THROUGH TIME AND TRADITION: We seek papers on any aspect of the story of Phinehas in Numbers 25:6–15, including but not limited to divinely inspired homicide, priestly responsibilities, and the story's presentations of masculinity. Theological, literary, artistic, or any other interpretations are welcome. The section strives to demonstrate the variety of ways in which the Bible has been understood, adapted, or used through time and in different traditions. Generally, papers covering any interpretation of the passage up to roughly ten years ago should be fine. We welcome submissions from biblical scholars as well as from others with specialized interests. Please contact Stacy Davis (lieblingbi@aol.com) with any questions.

EARLY CHRISTIAN GOSPELS: The aim of this section is: (1) to encourage scholarly investigation of the NT and extra-canonical gospels in the Midwest Region; (2) to support scholars of the Midwest Region by providing an annual forum for critical discussion of their work; and, (3) to promote discussion of a wide range of gospel topics for the benefit of all. In 2017, this section will be dedicated to any new work that scholars in the region wish to bring forward. Essays on the theme of time are encouraged. All proposals must be submitted through the online system. If you have any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to contact Clare K. Rothschild (ckrothschild@gmail.com).

EARLY CHRISTIANITY: ACTS, APOSTOLIC FATHERS, AND PATRISTICS: The scope of this section includes the canonical Acts of the Apostles and the extra-canonical texts from the Apostolic Fathers through the fourth century CE. In keeping with the focus of this year's conference, our theme will be "What Difference Does Time Make?" Papers on any aspect of this topic will be given first consideration but other topics will also be considered for a general session. Please direct any questions to Nancy Pardee (npardee@uchicago.edu).

FORMER AND LATTER PROPHETS (HEBREW BIBLE): This section welcomes proposals on any facet of the Former and Latter Prophets (i.e., historical and prophetic books) of the Hebrew Bible/Old Testament. Presenters are encouraged to submit proposals that address this year's theme ("What Difference Does Time Make?"), but papers on all topics pertinent to the section will be considered. Session groupings will be determined later. Specific questions may be addressed to the section chair, George C. Heider (george.heider@valpo.edu).

HEBREWS AND CATHOLIC EPISTLES: Our section welcome proposals engaging any topic concerning Hebrews or the Catholic Epistles, especially those that address the conference theme ("What Difference Does Time Make?"). Two sessions will be devoted to invited papers and discussion of the question "What is Hebrews?" Please contact Amy Peeler (HebrewsCatholicEpistles.MWSBL@gmail.com) with any questions.

PAUL: This section invites paper proposals on any topic dealing with Paul or the Pauline letter corpus. Papers addressing the theme of the 2017 meeting ("What Difference Does Time Make?") will be given special consideration, but this theme may be broadly engaged. All topics relevant to Paul will be considered. Please direct any questions to P. Richard Choi (choir@andrews.edu) or Troy Martin (martin@sxu.edu).

PENTATEUCH (HEBREW BIBLE): This section welcomes proposals on any facet of the Pentateuch/Torah, including its composition, its various components (e.g., narratives, laws, poetry, rituals), and the history of its interpretation. Presenters are encouraged to submit proposals that address this year's theme ("What Difference Does Time Make?"), but papers on all topics pertinent to the section will be considered. For any inquiries, please contact Jeffrey Stackert (stackert@uchicago.edu).

TEACHING THE BIBLE: This section invites proposals that focus on enhancing teaching and learning in the biblical/religious studies classroom. Proposals addressing this year's theme ("What Difference Does Time Make?") are especially encouraged. Papers that address the use of contemporary cultural, social, and political contexts in biblical studies and issues surrounding the diverse classroom are especially pertinent, but all papers relevant to the section will be considered. Please direct inquiries to Teresa Calpino (tcalpin@luc.edu).

TEXTUAL CRITICISM AND PAPYROLOGY: This section welcomes presentations that examine ancient writing materials and the history of manuscript transmission as well as studies that help understand text types, variants, corruption, and adaptation of the texts in relation to Jewish, Christian, and Greco-Roman social and religious contexts. The section invites paper proposals on all biblical and related literature, including the Church Fathers' writings and literary and documentary papyri. All submissions will be considered, but papers that focus specifically on the theme of the 2017 Midwest Region meeting ("What Difference Does Time Make?") are of special interest. Proposals with interdisciplinary content will be taken into consideration. If you have any questions, please contact Sylvie Raquel at sraquel@tiu.edu.

THE WRITINGS (HEBREW BIBLE): This section invites proposals for papers related to the study of the Writings material in the Hebrew Bible/Old Testament. Presenters can submit proposals that address this year's theme ("What Difference Does Time Make?"), but papers on all topics pertinent to the section will be considered, including proposals on specific exegetical problems, theology, hermeneutics, and methodology. Please submit questions to Robert E. Wallace (rwallace@JudsonU.edu).