Dr. Julia Lambert Fogg

Professor of Religion, California Lutheran University

Title: "On Account of This Word: Mark 7:24-30 and the Syrophoenician Woman's Challenge"

The Rev. Dr. Julia Lambert Fogg, Ph.D., is Professor of Religion at California Lutheran University where she specializes in New Testament studies, first-century Christianities, and theologies from the margins. She was named "Professor of the Year" by the CLU class of 2008 and chaired the Religion department from 2009-2016. She served a bilingual Scandinavian-Latino Lutheran congregation in Pasadena from 2007-2013. Her teaching focuses on experiential learning and immersion pedagogies that bring students into the community and underrepresented communities into the classroom. Her book, Finding Jesus at the Border (2020 Baker/Brazos Press) interprets border crossing narratives in the New Testament in conversation with contemporary immigrant experiences in Southern California.
