

Jeremiah Coogan

2024 A. R. Pete Diamond Award for Integrative Scholarship

The 2024 A. R. Pete Diamond Award for Integrative Scholarship has been awarded to Jeremiah Coogan for his paper entitled, “Synoptic Work: Compositional Practices, Invisible Labor, and the Synoptic Problem.”

Jeremiah Coogan is Assistant Professor of New Testament at the Jesuit School of Theology of Santa Clara University. He is a historian of religion and textuality in the Roman Mediterranean. His current research centers on Gospel literature, early Christian philology, and the history of enslavement. Coogan is the author of Eusebius the Evangelist: Rewriting the Fourfold Gospel in Late Antiquity (Oxford 2023).

The A. R. Pete Diamond Award for Integrative Scholarship supports junior scholars demonstrating innovative approaches in biblical studies that advance methodological work at the intersection of historical criticism, critical theory, and cultural studies. The award is given to a member who has received a Ph.D. or Th.D, in biblical studies or related field within the last ten years and includes $1,000 award. Papers for this award are evaluated on the basis of three categories:

- A persuasive thesis that engages emerging methodologies and changing paradigms, and demonstrates quality of scholarship and significance to the field
- Clarity of expression and thought
- Originality and creativity

The call for papers for the 2025 A.R. Pete Diamond Award for Integrative Scholarship will open by April 1, 2025. We would like to express our sincere gratitude to the colleagues, friends, and family of A. R. Pete Diamond for making this scholarship award possible.
